Hello yuri,

I think you'll find it very welcoming here. Lots of enthusiasm for Italian jazz too.

Have a look here for a start:

Hope you can tell us a bit about what we should be listening to from Italy.

well, thanx :)

i live in "marche" region: here we have some interesting musicians, maybe someone has already heard about them... simone la maida is a good tenor player; roberto monti and augusto mancinelli two great guitar players (with an opposite style). perhaps the most famous is massimo manzi, drummer, which collaborated with pat metheny, pat martino, steve grossman among others, or paolo ghetti, superb bass player.

in these days "fano jazz festival" ~~takes place but, alas, i'm too busy with concerts, lessons and so on... and today a wedding!~~ an "italian" wedding, you know what i mean... six hours dining (a good title for a song... "six hours dining"...).

see you later. after digestion.

Welcome aboard, Yuri! I spent two weeks in Italy some years ago, and ran into countless weddings and many friendly people.

Hi Yuri,

Yes the e-mail notification went down for a couple of days, but is OK now

Cheers

Welcome. It's always nice to see new people sign up. I came to this board not to long ago but I used to read it often. There seemed to be more controversy and confrontations a few years ago (the Blue Note board?). There were some very interesting characters back then. Not so much heated diatribes and personal attacks anymore.
